DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 3663

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over in view of Carroll et al. (US 20030097211A1) and in view of Kataghishi (US 20040210363A1).

Carroll et al. teaches an typical on board apparatus to be mounted on a vehicle. Said apparatus can be an OBD-II for diagnosing vehicle components such as engine, brakes, etc (Carroll et al, page 2, paragraphs 0024 and 0025). The apparatus as taught by Carroll et al. basically comprises a getting means for getting vehicle model information, the vehicle model information being peculiar to the vehicle. For example, in figure 3a, the user interface provides a list (30) of vehicle's country (vehicle model information) to user to select. The computer system (200) is a recognition means, which is provided to process a selected signal from the user interface (Carroll et al., figure 2; page 3, paragraph 0037). In response to a user's selection of vehicle manufactures, a pull-down window listing carmakers is provided (Carroll et al., page 4, paragraph 0042), said window includes a function setting means such as button (32) in figure 3b and another selection button shown in figure 3c. They are function setting means for setting the design information related to function or operation of the vehicle based on the selected vehicle model information. For example, the window shown in figure 3d shows a list of design data regarding a selection of Market: United States Domestic, Manufacturer: Acura, Year: 1999-1999, model: 3.0CL.

Although Carroll et al. teaches storages device for storing information and instructions, Carrol et al. does not mention that storage means for storing the vehicle model information and related design information of function information.

Art Unit: 3663

The secondary reference to Katagishi et al. teaches another onboard apparatus to be mounted on a vehicle (Katagishi et al., figure 1, onboard apparatus 3). The onboard apparatus (3) comprise a storage device (34) that stores vehicle model information such as manufacturer ID, car ID, etc. (Katagishi et al., page 3, paragraph 0032, line 7).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the onboard apparatus as taught by Carroll et al. to include the storage device that stores vehicle model information as taught in Katagishi et al. in order to retrieve download information related to a vehicle from a list of vehicles that have previously had diagnosing services.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 2 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

In response to the applicant's amendment to claims 1 and 2, a new rejection has been set.

Conclusions

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
